

VASSILIS I. FILIAS

SOCIAL SYSTEMS

Volume I

Contents

- I. The Asian way of production and the nomads
- II. The City - State
- III. The Feudal system
- IV. Process of transition to Capitalism

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION	9
I. THE ASIAN WAY OF PRODUCTION AND THE NOMADS	11
1. Fundamental notional explications	13
2. Man and Production	18
3. From the primary community to the eastern way of production	23
4. The "Democracy of Barbarians"	27
5. Eastern Despotism – Nomads and farmers – Conditions of the Greek historic breach	32
II. THE CITY – STATE	39
6. The surpassing of Eastern "dualism" and the birth of the person as citizen	41
7. The Greek city-state and the slave system	44
8. Recapitulation and conclusions	51
9. The hellenistic world	57
10. The roman city – state	62
III. THE FEUDAL SYSTEM	67
11. The agriculturalization of the roman economy and the german way of production	69
12. Property and the bases of power in the feudal system	74
13. The imposition of bondservants. The problem of markets in the feudal world	80
14. The completion of feudal system and the "norman reform"	83
15. The structure of feudal system	88
16. The bourgeois commune in the western feudalism	93
17. The bourgeois strata and the consolidation of Absolutism	98
IV. PROCESS OF TRANSITION TO THE CAPITALISTIC TRANSFORMATION	105
18. The initial course of transformation of the feudal system	107
19. From the feudalism to capitalism – The powers of transition	114
20. M. Weber's position regarding puritanism	120
21. The english course towards the capitalistic way of production	125
22. The contradictions of the french capitalistic growth	131
23. Man and machine in the early industrial capitalism	135
24. The view of the capitalistic way of production by K. Marx	141
25. Bibliography	146