

VASSILIOS I. FILIAS

THE PROBLEM OF CREATION OF PRODUCTIVE CAPITAL IN THE UNDERDEVELOPED ECONOMIES

TABLE OF CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION	pg. 5
FIRST PART
Chapter One: On the notion and the role of Capital	» 7
I. The macro-economic capital notion	» 7
II. Real and nominal Capital	» 9
III. Conditions of Capital creation	» 12
IV. Functional correlations between nominal and real Capital	» 13
V. The Capital Reproduction	» 19
VI. Schumpeter and the dynamics of the economic development conception	» 22
Chapter Two: The economic surplus – Notion and problematic	» 25
I. The determination of economic surplus	» 25
II. Economic surplus and capital creation	» 29
III. Maximisation of economic surplus and productive investments	» 31
IV. The economic surplus in the evolution of western economies and in the underdeveloped countries	» 41
Chapter Three: The measure of the real Capital
I. The importance of measure of the existent productive Capital in the underdeveloped Economies	» 44
II. Ways and methods of measurement of the real Capital	» 47
SECOND PART
Chapter Four: Savings and Capital formation	» 51
I. Forms and importance of savings	» 51
II. Determinative factors of voluntary savings	» 58
III. The compulsory savings	» 69
IV. Savings and investments	» 74
V. Savings in Greek Economy	» 81

Chapter Five: Monetary policy and levels of prices at the process of Capital formation	» 90
I. The Questions	» 90
II. The Neutrality of money – Notion and problematic	» 91
III. Price levels and Capital Formation in an under-developed Economy	» 96
Chapter Six: Stock market and Capital formation	» 108
I. The functional role of the stock market and capital formation	» 108
II. The Stock market in the underdeveloped economies	» 114
III. The problem of the greek stock market	» 117
Chapter Seven: Capital formation and balance of payments	» 121
I. The theoretical aspects of the problem	» 121
II. The Greek case	» 126
THIRD PART
Chapter Eight: Technoeconomic views of the productive Capital Formation	» 131
I. The problems at the initial phase	» 131
II. The multiple choices of a starting phase	» 136
III. The crucial problem: Capital intensity or work intensity	» 141
Chapter Nine: The formation of a fixed productive Capital in the Greek Economy	» 146
Chapter Ten: The role of the State in the Capital Formation process	» 149
Bibliography	» 153
Table of Contents	» 159